

A selection of our favourite wines from recent tastings

Saint-Amour 2015 Henry Fessy

'Lots of Beaujolais from the 2015 vintage show trademark exuberant black fruit and silky tannins, but there are extra layers of zip and complexity to this cru: nectarine, chocolate and flowers, with a powdery texture on the palate...' Chris Losh

Tasting & Matching Beaujolais 2015

Château des Labourons Fleurie 2015 Henry Fessy

'Cherry notes are prevalent on the nose, but with a light cocoa note too, as well as a touch of menthol. Characterful on the nose, leading to juicy cherry notes on the palate, with well-balanced tannins and some subtle herbal notes,' CC.

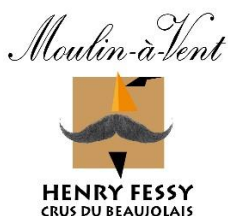

'A peppery, spicy nose, with classic red fruits. A pleasant palate and quite drinkable,' MA

Morgon 2015 Henry Fessy

'There are some attractive floral notes as well as some light red fruit on this very appealing nose, which belies a rather more substantial palate. This is packed with fruit, joined by a hint of herbs,' CC.

'As expected, this Morgon has strong character, with classic red berries and sweet spices on the nose. Some strong minerality comes through, too – probably a result of granite soils,' MC.

Moulin-à-Vent 2015 Henry Fessy

'Subtle kirsch notes, as well as cooked strawberries, anise and a hint of rose, joined by substantial tannins,' MS.

'A floral aroma joins some concentrated red fruit, although this is actually quite light on the palate, with red fruit and a silky texture, as well as some big acidity. There's a herbal note to the finish, rounding off a very approachable wine,' CC.

CC – Clinton Cawood, Imbibe
Ma – Maxwell Allwood, Alimentum
Mc – Mattia Scarpazza, Petersham Nursery